SAD44 hearing Tuesday on

The $6 million budget

By WENDY HANSCOM

The SAD44 Board of Directors will hold a public hearing Tuesday, July 20, on the district's fiscal-year 1994 budget. The hearing will begin at 7 p.m. in the Telstar High School auditorium.

Handouts on the new budget will be passed out, and the board will take questions and comments from the audience.

The district-wide annual budget meeting, at which voters will be asked to approve next year's budget, is scheduled for July 28 at 7 p.m. in the Telstar auditorium.

District budget hearings and votes are usually held in April, but the process was delayed this year by uncertainty over the amount of money the district would be receiving from the state.

The Board of Directors formally agreed Monday evening to a $6,090,076 budget for the coming year. The figure represents a 2.07 percent increase over the FY '93 budget of $5,966,070.

However, because the district will be receiving less state school subsidy for the coming year, the total tax bill to SAD44 towns will go up by almost 7 percent.

The actual increase for each town varies according to yearly fluctuations in the state's valuation of real estate in the town.

On page 2 is a chart of each SAD44 town's school assessment under the new budget, along with a list of some of the items that were added or deleted in this year's budget building process.

Tractor trailer runs over boy near Locke Mills

Teenagers reported to have been playing in highway prior to accident

By WENDY HANSCOM

A 14-year-old Bethel boy is recovering from two broken legs and several bumps and bruises after he was run over by a tractor-trailer truck near the Bethel/Locke Mills town line on Route 26, according to Bethel police.

his 15-year-old cousin Friday, when a tractor-trailer truck driven by Richard Fluet of St. Ludger, Quebec drove up, said Bethel Chief of Police Dale Bellman.
A third, 16-year-old, boy from Greenwood was watching the scene from the side of the northbound lane, Bellman said.

The third youth yelled a warning to the pair in the middle of the road as the truck approached, Bellman said, but only the 15-year-old managed to step into the south-bound lane and out of the way of the northbound truck.

The 14-year-old panicked and stepped into the path of the tractor-trailer truck, the Chief said. As the boy turned toward the truck, his right foot was run over by the truck's tractor, Bellman said. The youth pushed against the truck as it swerved toward the side of the road, Bellman said, but he fell to the ground and both pairs of the flatbed trailer's tandem tires ran over

Fortunately, the trailer was empty at the time.

Comprehensive planning starts

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A committee of eight Greenwood volunteers has begun the process of developing a new comprehensive plan for the town.

A new plan is expected to be ready for presentation to voters within a year and a half, according to committee co-chair Raymond

At their annual Town Meeting in March, Greenwood voters agreed to accept a $13,985 state planning grant, which will be used--along with a $4,662 local match--to fund the project. (The planning grant is similar to one turned down by Bethel voters at a special Town Meeting last month.)

The Greenwood committee is currently negotiating with the Andros-coggin Valley Council of Governments to provide technical assistance with the comprehensive plan revision. The contract with AVCOG is expected to cost between $11,000 and $12,000, Seames said.

Local input sought

One key element of the planning process, Šeames said, will be a survey of residents (and non-residents as well, if possible). The survey will ask how how satisfied they are will various aspects of the town, what changes they would like to see, and what they hope the town

Plans for 99 residential lots and the construction of 99 condominiums at Powder Ridge were approved by the Planning Board in March of 1990. The town's comprehensive planning process will be divided into three phases; resource inventory and analysis, setting goals and general policy, and developing an implementation strategy.

Committee subgroups have already begun working on aspects of the initial phase, Seames said, but there's plenty of work to go around the subdivision and its site plan.

SEWAGE FLOWS, PROJECT SLOWS-Workers from Couture Construction Company divert the flow of sewage from pipe broken while digging in the intersection at the head of Main Street. The broken pipe forced a two-hour closing of the Mill Hill pump station Thursday, to allow for the installation of a temporary service line. There was no interruption in resident service, according to Town Manager Madeleine Henley. Phase Three work is currently running behind schedule, Henley said, and the contractor will either have to add more crews or get the town to agree to extend the original completion date of Aug. 31. But the area around the town common will still be cleared of construction activity and cleaned up for this weekend's Mollyockett Day activities, Henley said. (And this year the common will once again be drained before the festival.)

It is my feeling that the education needs to be with our lawmakers so that there may be changes made to allow local children to use their own backyard and learn about the environment with their school groups. Some children would only get this experience in school. Caribou is not "just another place." It is a place 30 minutes from CPS; it is a place with a different up and down route; it is a place with a 360 degree view; and it is a place teachers are familiar with and comfortable leading a group into. Let's not limit ourselves. Let's remember some children will never see the summit of Caribou Mountain if not for willing leaders in groups larger than 10.

In closing, if it is a goal to limit group size, why the construction of the fancy parking lot off Route 113 and the proposed parking lot on the Bog Road? More cars bring more people and more lost people, not to mention the money spent.

KEEPING IT GREEN

To the Editor:

With the final paying of Lower of a long process of hard work, discussion, citizen input, compromise. At its best the process was informative and collaborative. Where there was rancor, it came from the collision of citizenry and town officials. Perhaps it came most from our seeking that town government work with people of the community rather than above them. Compromise was negotiated, position for position, in what became, unfortunately, a struggle for points. Initial surprising cynicism by some selectmen about the original petition signers was balanced, thankfully, by respect for their seriousness, loyalty to community values, and intelligent capacity to participate in community life and future.

DOCTOR SAYS GOOD-BYE

I will be leaving the Bethel Area Health Center after July 15. I'm going to Burlington, Vt., to a family practice group. I would like to thank the people who have given me the opportunity to be their doctor over these past three years. To me, being a small-town doctor has been a unique privilege. I feel that I have been providing medical care some-where where I have really made a difference. I have had the chance to become close to many people, and I have often felt a sense of appreciation and respect from my patients.

There are many people I would need to thank for making my job easier. Not mentioning names will help avoid missing somebody who has been important to me, but who was overlooked. I'd like to thank the many hardworking volunteers at the Bethel Emergency Ambulance Rescue Service. All of these people work many hours and make themselves available at a moment's notice. I'm truly impressed at the amount of time they give to this service. This and other area rescue STOLEN PLANT MEANS units do important work, with only MORE PAIN FOR CHILD the satisfaction of helping in times of need as their reward.

Thanks to the people at Preb's Pharmacy, who are friendly and professional. Thanks to the excellent nursing staff at Ledgeview Nursing Home, who give wonderful, personal care to the residents. Thanks also to the Androscoggin Home Health Care nurses, who are so important in helping people get better in the climate of their own homes. Thank you to the staff at Stephens Memorial Hospital, who have given me a lot of support over the years. And thanks to the staff of the Bethel Area Health Center, who have worked through thick and thin to help deliver high-quality health care to the Bethel area.

I would also like to thank the design. In sum, the project has made many teachers and babysitters that clear to us that a heightened level of Harley has had while we've been general alertness and participation is here. A BIT OF HOME AWAY FROM HOME-The Ulster American Folk Park, complete with an genuine American style barn, was one of the stops for the group of SAD44 youngsters and their chaperones who returned Friday from two weeks in Northern Ireland. The group was hosted by the Newry, Northern Ireland, which last year sent a group of youngsters to visit its namesake, Newry, Maine. In welcoming the visitors to Northern Ireland, Newry Council Chairman (mayor) James Savage said: "Day by day, the world is becoming a smaller place, and so long as we have people with a generous nature and true compassion for their fellow man, than this type of venture can only set the foundations for a greater understanding of peoples on a global basis."

did not come to Bethel with the idea of staying only three years, but moving on is the right thing for me now. I would like people to know that I am not leaving because of salary concerns, or because I don't like Bethel, or because it's a good career move. We came to Bethel because we knew the town. We spent our honeymoon at the Bethel Inn, and camped on the Wild River, I'll miss living here, but I'm grateful for what I have had here. I've always felt that the most important aspect of a doctor-patient relationship is communication. Along with that goes respect for the patient. I hope people can say I listened, and understood, and respected them. If so, then I feel my job has been a success.

To the Editor:

I feel that it is a crying shame that a little six-year-old puts a plant on his father's grave and when he goes back to the grave to see how the plant is doing and to put water on it, he finds the plant is completely gone. Spontaneous combustion of a pile of rags is being blamed for a fire last week in a ski rental storage area in Sunday River Ski Resort's South Ridge base lodge.
The fire caused $8,000 to $10,000 worth of damage, according to Newry Fire Chief Virgil "Tink" Conkright. Last week's extreme heat probably caused a pile of rags that had

Last week's extreme neat probably caused a pile of rags that had been used with paint thinner to ignite, Conkright said.

Firefighters from Bethel and Newry responded to a report of smoke coming from the lodge Wednesday evening.

When Newry firefighters arrived on the scene at 7:51 p.m. they could hear sprinkler alarms sounding, and smoke was visible through some of the windows, Conkright said. The fire was located when firemen saw water from the sprinkler system spraying against a window, Conkright said.

Ten firefirefighters donned air packs and went into the building to check the extent of the fire.

"The fire was burning in an area used to store skis and other general materials," Conkright said, "The sprinklers were keeping it from spreading. We put out what was burning with a hose." Six sprinkler heads went off, he said.

The blaze was under control in about five minutes, Conkright said, but firefighters remained on the scene until 10 p.m. making sure the fire was fully extinguished and had not spread beyond the ski storage area, he said. The nearby Saturdays restaurant also sustained smoke and water damage but reopened by the following morning.

Water was obtained from a hydrant at the scene. About 16 Newry and 10 Bethel firemen responded.

Service are warning campers, bar-becuers and others to be very careful with all types of fires.

"Logging operations, the rail-roads, lightening and sometimes even a bottle will start fires," said

Fire Prevention Specialist Jim Downie of the Forest Service, "but people are responsible for 90 percent of all forest fires.'

Downie said a discarded glass bottle is thought to be responsible for a forest fire in the Augusta area earlier this summer. Glass bottles can concentrate and intensify the sun's rays, he said, and ignite the dry ground underneath them.

"We're encouraging home-owners and campers to check with fire officials before burning," he said, "and if possible to put off any burning until we get some significant rain."

But Downie said the state has not yet imposed any restrictions on burning.

"Town wardens do an outstanding job," Downie said. "They usually shut-off permitting burning long be-fore they get any orders from Augusta.

Bethel Fire Chief Young said he has stopped issuing burning permits. Newry Chief Conkright said he has been allowing burning after 5 p.m., but may stop permits altogether if the dry, hot spell continues.

Downie said until the fire danger lessens, the Forest Service will continue to run two or three air flights daily from several sites throughout the state to check for forest fires.

"We're increasing air detection flights in areas that have had a lot of fires," Downie said. "We'll run two a day or more if needed.

Common sense is the best pre-vention of forest fires, Downie said. Home owners should be careful with any fire, and campers should make sure camp fires are fully contained or extinguished before leaving the campsite.

Andover sets value of MCI

By JAMES STEVENS

Andover Selectmen voted last week to accept town assessor Michael L. Austin's assessment of the MCI complex, setting the value of the facility at $19,039,500.

MCI has contested the town's valuation since the company bought the property in 1988. The basis for the disagreement is that MCI believes the facility should be taxed according to what was paid for it, while the town believes their assessor's value is the true taxable value.

"We treat them just like we treat any other taxpayer in town. They have contested our appraisals since 1988, and they continue to contest them. They have also paid each year," said Wayne Delano, chairman of the selectmen.

As in the past, this review included a site inspection on April 14, 1993, a review of MCI's 1993 declaration, and further review of state, local and company information, according to Austin.

"I am of the opinion that the 1993 assessed valuation for the real estate should remain the same as the 1992 tax year," Austin said in his recommendation.

New taxable personal property at the station amounted to $487,500 after depreciation, but that investment was offset by an overall $170,000 reduction in value due to depreciation.

"Really nothing has changed except for some of the personal property and adjustments for depreciation," Selectwoman Kathy Williamson said.

Chairman Delano motioned to accept Austin's recommendation and the full board voted unanimously to accept it, but the board refused to release the entire report because it "is still in litigation," according to Delano. The board released about 50-60 percent of the report.

When asked about the litigation between the town and MCI over the valuation, Williamson said, "I think it is moving along." Delano don't know. I thought that years ago after the meeting."

Wednesday, a United Cablevision employee told police a cable television wire on Vernon Street had been shot down, possibly by rifle fire. Police reported no complaints of shots being fired in the area.

Thursday, a China Gem Restaurant employee told police the Chinese restaurant's sign had been pelted by rocks and two chairs valued at $20 had been stolen.

In other police news last week, on July 4 police summonsed Christopher Hutchinson, 21, of Bryant Pond for operating a motorcycle without a license.

Wednesday, police arrested George E. Bradley, 24, of Bethel for operating a motor vehicle without a license. He was transported to the Oxford County Jail.

Thursday, police responded to a two-car accident on the intersection of Railroad and Main streets. Rodney Withy, 36, of Locke Mills was stopped at the intersection waiting to make a left turn, when Wendy E. Coughlan, 31, of Ferrisbrough, Vt. ran into the back of Withy's vehicle, according to the police log. No damage was done to Withy's vehicle. Police estimated the damage to Coughlan's vehicle at less than $500. Saturday evening, police responded to a report of three people fighting in the Sudbury Inn parking lot. Car fire closes Pleasant River Chinese Restaurant

Planning Board Chairman Don The Pleasant River Chinese Sandstrom had asked the town's Restaurant was temporarily selectmen and Fire Chief and Road Commissioner Virgil "Tink" Con-kright to attend last Wednesday's closed last week after a flaming car crashed into a dumpster in the meeting to discuss any concerns parking lot.

Restaurant employee Mary Chapman, 34, of Bethel, had just Restaurant gotten out of her 1983 Plymouth sedan on Tuesday afternoon when it began rolling toward the restaurant in flames.

The car stopped when it hit a dumpster, according to Bethel Police Chief Dale Bellman. Smoke from the fire went into the restaurant and motel, which is owned by Francis and Barbara Dumont.

Firefighters from Bethel and Gilead responded to the fire. The car was engulfed by flames when they arrived.

It was totalled, all they could do was put it out," Bellman said. The car was insured, he said. The fire probably started in the cars electrical system, he said.
The Department of Human Services forced the restaurant to close until all smoke damage was cleaned up, Bellman said. The Chinese restaurant was open for business again Friday, according to Barbara Dumont. Any food exposed to the smoke had to be thrown out, she said, and the restaurant was cleaned up of all smoke damage.

The incident was not thought to be related to last week's heat

QUESTION: Do we have to sell everything we own or be "broke" to qualify for Medicare payments for nursing home expenses?

ANSWER: Many elderly in Maine may believe they have to "spend" themselves into poverty to qualify for Medicaid to meet expenses for nursing home care. This is not the case. In fact, there are important planning steps and individual can take to qualify for Medicaid assistance to help meet nursing home care expenses while still maintaining certain assets.

Medicaid assistance to help meet nursing home care expenses while still maintaining certain assets.

There are two important financial requirements to consider in planning for eligibility for Medicaid assistance.

First, if a spouse requires nursing home care, he or she may have no more than $2,000 of value in what Medicaid considers non-exempt assets to initially qualify for Medicaid coverage. Among other examples, exempt assets include your primary residence, adjacent land and personal property. The at-home spouse (otherwise known as the "the community spouse" by Medicaid) can also protect many assets and still enjoy considerable income protection. Under current Maine law, liquid assets such as cash, stocks, bonds, etc. up to a total value of $68,700 can be retained by the at-home spouse.

Second, when doing your Medicaid planning, it's important to know that Medicaid limits the amount of income the at-home spouse can receive after eligibility for Medicaid has been established. Under current law, the at-home spouse can receive monthly income ranging from $1,149 to $1,718 without cashing and spending CD's, stocks, bonds etc. they have worked so hard to save.

So, contrary to what many people believe, you don't have to be "broke" to qualify for Medicaid. Indeed, it pays to know just what assets, including monthly income, you may keep and still qualify for assistance.

There are other means for the at-home spouse to protect assets and income. With the uncertainty and proposed changes in both Federal and State laws, you should begin planning now for how to become eligible if you think you may be facing nursing home expenses in

If you have questions about your Medicaid eligibility or would like some advice about how to set up a plan that will suit your personal situation, please contact Albert Beliveau, Jr. Esq. of Claudia Raessler, Esq., at Preti, Flaherty, Beliveau and Pachios, 150 Congress St., Rumford, ME 04276, Tel. 364-4593.

Thursday, July 1, there was a good crowd at the East Stoneham Church supper. The next one is the 15th. If you don't feel like cooking this hot weather, let the Stoneham cooks do it for you. Also, July 22 is the Hunt's Corner supper. Those beans, casseroles, salads and pies, etc. sound good don't they.

I don't have too much news this week as I spent the 4th of July weekend in the Stephens Memorial Hospital, going in on Saturday and coming home on Tuesday. It's a good place to be when one needs the medical attention and the nurses are super. I was just getting acquainted with a nice lady roommate from Bethel when I came home, Hope you're feeling better, Alice Remmy and enjoy the window by the flower garden. The flowers and shrubbery are just so pretty and nice there, and Winona Clark and her helpers do a splendid job there.

Cheryl and Paul Barnard, Joshua, Jenna and Lindsey and little "Spanky" arrived here on Tuesday, coming from Turkey to spend the summer months with her parents, Albert and Eleanor Nelson.

Church services are being held in the No. Waterford Church for the month of July.

July 24 is the lobster and steak feed at the Rescue Barn and one should buy their tickets by July 20. This is always for a good cause.

No. Waterford Fair is July 15, 16, and 17. This used to be an annual meeting place for people who hadn't seen each other for a long time while the children enjoyed the rides and games. The pig scramble is always an exciting time for the participants and onlookers.

Greenwood City By COLISTA MORGAN

This is July 4th and all is quiet here

I had some lovely strawberries for my breakfast. The dictionary defines the strawberry as the fruit of a rosaceous herb of the genus receptacle.

I call that a dull description of one of spring and summer's most sumptuous pleasures. A sweet, freshly picked strawberry placed in the mouth, sun warmed can't be beat. It is almost like tasting the essence of summer, summers of years gone by. It brings memories of red-lipped children with whom I have picked berries. They sample for mom's homemade shortcake. Memories such as these do doubt caused the saying, "God could have made, but God never did make a better berry." These berries were a favorite of the early colonists who ate them plain, dipped in salt or sugar. The Indians used them for medicines, beverages, and a bread which was probably the beginning of our shortcake.

Strawberry festivals long have been an American tradition. It started first with the Iroquois Indians, who celebrated the end of the long barren winter with a festival honoring the wild strawberries that grew beside Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. The early American settlers gathered families and friends together in June when the berries were sweet and ripe. Many claims have been made over the years for the benefits of eating strawberries. I think the best claim to their fame is their taste.

There are many theories as to why they were named strawberries. One is that the berries seem to be "strewn" among the leaves and plants; in time this "STREW-BERRY" became the strawberry. Another theory was that the Old English word "streaw" meant hay or straw. Others believe that they are so named because straw was used as a covering for the berry beds. It seems silly to list all the ways that one can eat the berry. They are so perfect in the natural goodness of them, Whatever you do with them, enjoy them to their fullest. When fields are sweet with clover bloom along about July, And the summer sun is shining in the blue and colorful sky; It is then we donned an old straw hat and took the path that led Out to the sheltered hillside and the lush strawberry bed. The cake was spread with strawberries on top and in between, Huge wedges, buttery and sweet, prepared to please a queen. Of all the pleasant happenings that come in summer time, and it acts like another hot day. The last day of June was real nice here. Peggy decided she'd wash the curtains and windows as they needed it badly. In the evening, Peggy had a meeting of the committee that is planning the Variety Show that will be held on July 23 at 7 p.m. at Franklin Grange Hall in Bryant Pond.

It was nice weather Sunday morning, so I started out the forenoon by doing some laundry. Then I went outside and used my sprayer to foliar feed some more of the plants in the garden. In the afternoon I went with Peggy to put out posters advertising the Variety Show of July 23. She stopped and left posters at many places and ended up at Loretta and Emerson Merrill's in West Bethel. We visited there a short while and then went back out to Dwight Merrill's where Mary Merrill and baby girl, and a friend of hers with a baby boy were all enjoying the swimming pool. Those babies were only six to seven months old, but they sure were enjoying the water--no whimpering or crying, just smiles.

From there, we went to visit Bryce and Barbara Yates up Sunday River. They already had some company that we enjoyed meeting, and we all visited together. We had supper with them and didn't leave for home until nearly 9 p.m. after having an enjoyable evening.

The dance with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra will be at West Sumner Grange Hall on July 17, and the dance on July 24 will be at the Locke Mills Town Hall. These are the old fashioned dances, so come shake a leg.

An important addition to the Bethel Library's collection was made recently through the efforts of SAD44 Chemical Health Coordinator Rodney Abbott, Abbott, who works with the Community received a "Drug-Free Schools and Communities" grant which allowed him to place books and materials on chemical awareness in the Bethel Library and in K-12 classrooms Some of the titles in the library's new collection: "Self-Esteem; A family affair"; "Drugs and Sports"; "Growing Up Again"; "It's Okay to say no to Drugs and Cigarettes"; "Raising Drug-free Kids in a Drug-filled World"; "The Boy who Drank too Much"; "It Won't Happen to

THE WOODSTOCK WILDCATS Bambino Little League team took first place at the recent championships in Andover. The team was also first in the league standing, with a record of 11-1 in league games. Most Valuable Player for the season was Jeremy Curley. Most Valuable Pitcher for the season was Sam Sayen. The sportsmanship trophy for the season went to the Greenwood team, which finished runner-up in the championship and fourth during regular-season play. In the double elimination tournament, the teams played a total of eight games. Andover, Rumford Point and Bethel teams also competed. I received a subpoena to appear in court as a witness and I am nervous about it. Will I need to take a lot of time off from work? Do I have to do this even if I don't really want to?

A subpoena is a court order which requires the person named in it to appear at a specific time and place to be questioned under oath about either a matter that is under investigation or a lawsuit. As well as your attendance, a subpoena may also require you to produce papers, documents, or anything else relevant to the particular proceeding.

Usually a subpoena orders the person named to appear and give testimony before a court. It will always identify the person by whom it was issued and the name of the proceeding to which it relates.

If you are served with a subpoena, you cannot ignore it. If you do, you risk being held in contempt of court, even if the subpoena is not signed by a judge. You must do one of two things: either obey the subpoena; or, if you have an objection to it, apply to the proper court for an order canceling or modifying it. This is called a motion to quash, and it must be made before the date on which the subpoena orders you to appear. Contact an attorney to do

Keep this in mind if you are served with a subpoena: If you feel that you may be the target of a criminal investigation, or that your testimony in any way might impli-cate you in criminal activity, however remote, consult an attorney. Remember, too, even if you believe a subpoena to be invalid, the only correct way to nullify it is the motion to quash.

If your only objection to the subpoena is that it may be difficult or impossible for you to appear at the time and place indicated, contact the attorney or person who issued the subpoena. The name, address, and telephone number should be written at the bottom of the subpoena. Try to reschedule your appearance, or arrange to be on call by telephone. This way you can avoid sitting through the entire proceeding. If this is not possible, and you feel that your appearance will endanger your health or business, seek the advice of an attorney.

FROM THE

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

This is an extremely busy week for all who are involved in any way with Mollyockett Day. Hopefully, we will be blessed with a sunny, mild day with low humidity, so all can enjoy the great events planned

Besides Mollyockett Day, this week, on Tuesday, the chamber hosted more than 130 golfers at the Bethel Inn and Country Club in our fourth annual Chamber Challenge Golf Tournament. It was a day enjoyed by all who participated, Many thanks to the nearly 50 sponsors and prize donors who made the day a success for the chamber and the golfers. A huge thanks goes to Jack Cronin from the Sudbury Inn, our chairman, who is responsible for the success of the event.

The board of directors met on Wednesday for a board retreat, fa-cilitated by Eva Schindler-Rainman, NTL consultant. We had a chance to do some great goal setting. Many thanks to the owners of the Maine House, Tim and Linda Salveson, for donating the use of their facility and to the Sudbury Inn for donating lunch.

The chamber and NTL are cosponsoring a craft/art fair on the NTL grounds on Thursday, July 25, from noon to 2 p.m. More than 15 artists, craft people and shopkeepers are participating in this. The public is welcomed. Many thanks to Don Katlin for producing the sign and to Eva Schindler-Rainman for making the arrangements for this.

Candlelight memorial service

The Bethel Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Post is inviting area residents to march in a candlelight memorial service for veterans of all wars after sundown July 16.

Marchers should gather on the common, where 2,000 candles with holders will be distributed free. The parade route will be from the common to the Civil War monument at the intersection of Mechanic and Main streets.

Bethel Post Commander Larry G. Smith Sr. will deliver the welcome, followed by a prayer by Acting Post Chaplain Roland

Post Adjutant Delmar McMillin will speak. A ringing of the bells will be performed by Louis Cayer, District 9 senior vice commander, Maine Department Inspector Myron H. Pierce of Post 9787 memorialize prisoners of war and those missing in action. Elaine Cross will close the program by playing taps.

Free refreshments after the parade will be served at the Lions Hall on Main Street.

Color Guards and VFW marchers will marshal at L'Auberge at Commemorative T-shirts will be available. Donations to help sponsor the event may be sent to VFW Post 11363, RFD #1, Box 56, Bethel, Maine, 04217.

Meeting House Musical

An old-fashioned concert, "Through the Years with Music" will be presented by local and area talent at the Middle Intervale Meeting House in Bethel, Sunday, July 25 at 2 p.m.

Performers have been costumed, programs have been printed, tickets are ready to sell, and Ed Hitchcock, master of ceremonies, is ready to host the special event, featuring the favorite songs of the last

There will be Rollie York and his guitar singing folk songs, Dorothy Canwell whistling "Listen to the Mocking Bird," Richard Felt with his harmonica, along with fiddler Bill Bedard, and Lona Bedard on the accordion playing country favorites such as "Little Brown Jug" and "Yellow Rose of Texas."

Ruth Silver and Pat Carter will perform a piano duet arrangement of Chopin's, "Military Polonaise."

Don Vautour will sing several solos, including the beautiful "You'll Never Walk Alone" from Carousel. He will join Cathy Hoy in singing two favorite W.W. I songs, with Nesta Littlefield at the piano.

Then there will be ragtime piano from the 1890s by Tom Coolidge. Nancy Hansen will sing "After the Ball," plus a musical recitation in the style of elecutionists of the early 20th century, with Carol Fiske

A quartet of Congregational Choir Members will render songs in four-part harmony reminiscent of singing societies and college glee clubs of the 1870s and 1880s.

A violin solo by Nancy Carroll. Jim Stoner will play Boogie Woogie on the piano and Don Katlin will bring back memories of the 1960s with "Blowing in the Wind."

Cheryl Lord singing a popular song of today--"Wind Beneath my Wings"--accompanied by Ruth Silver, brings the program to a close.

Tickets may be purchased from members or at the door. Donations will be $5 for adults, $3 for children under 12.

Directions to the Meeting House for those out of the Bethel area: driving north on Route 26 from Norway watch for signs as you approach Bethel Village, one-half mile beyond Telstar High School turn right at the Meeting House sign. Those traveling south from the village on Route 26 turn left about one-fourth mile after crossing the railroad tracks at the Meeting House sign

HISTORICAL SOCIETY PLANS NEW COOKBOOK EDITION

A second edition of the Bethel Historical Society Cook Book is being prepared for publication and is expected to be out later in the year. The first edition appeared in 1979 and has been a steady seller in the museum store since that time. Supplies are now exhausted and for several months a committee chaired by Jim Lowe with Arlene Lowell and Geraldine Howe have been working to prepare another edition.

The 1993 edition is expected to offer a full range of recipes divided by historic photographs and old-time household hints. More recipes are needed. Anyone wishing to submit recipes of soups and appetizers, chicken, fish, meat dishes, salads, breads and rolls and cookies and pies is urged to submit them to the Society, P.O. Box 12, Bethel, Me., 04217-0012 or call the society for additional information, 207-824-

This new edition is but one of a series of publications produced by the society since its founding in 1966. In 1992, the organization was recognized by the American Association for State and Local History.

Presently a thousand members strong, the Bethel Historical Society is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time local historical society, dedicated to preserv-ing and interpreting the region's past. Its activities include monthly meetings, exhibits, lectures, special events, school programs, and publi-

A Dear Friend

On June 22, 1993 the area of Oxford Hills lost a beloved citizen. Olive P. Davis passed away. She was known throughout Oxford County for her diligent work in both the Subordinate and Pamono Grange Orders.

Olive loved making green tomato relish and at Christmas time her So. Woodstock neighbors and friends were the recipients of a jar of the relish in place of Christmas cards.

She was often called upon to write a poem for occasions such as Birthday, Anniversary and Retire ment Parties. Her home is decorated throughou with paintings which she has done herself.

At the time of her retirement from 42 years of teaching in the So. Woodstock Union School the party in her honor was attended by 3 generation of her pupils

Many throughout the area will be missing her So Woodstock News. As I have spent many hours with Olive in the past 3 years, I will miss her the most.

Esther Davis

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank all our friends and relatives for our 50th anniversary party.

It was wonderful to greet so many of you and we are grateful to everyone who worked and cooked to make it such a happy occasion.
